He Visited Several Prisoners' Families in DeheishehQaraqe': Occupation Detained 300 Citizens from West Bank Last Month

Bethlehem – AL-AYYAM: The Minister of Detainees' and Ex-Detainees' Affairs, Issa Qaraqe', and a delegation from the Ministry and the Fatah Movement in Deheisheh Camp in Bethlehem Governorate yesterday visited the homes of several families of prisoners in Deheisheh Camp, as part of a program of visits to the prisoners' families organized by the Ministry during the month of Ramadan.

Qaraqe' met the families of the prisoner Mahmoud Sarahneh, sentenced to 17 life sentences and who has been in detention for nine years; the family of prisoner Imad Assaf, sentenced to eight years and who is injured; and the family of prisoner Hilmi Hamash, sentenced to 12 life sentences and detained since 2003.

Qaraqe' said that during this past August the occupation forces detained 300 citizens from across the West Bank, with a high concentration in the region of Hebron, and have executed 1,196 home raids and searches that are accompanied by arrests and the terrorizing and assaulting of residents.

He said that the campaign of arrests included 12 children under 18 years of age from Hebron, and he explained that the detainees are taken to nearby settlements and are then transferred to investigation centers. They are assaulted and subjected to savage torture.

Qaraqe' provided examples on the practices of Israeli investigators with the detainees, which is what happened with prisoner Ramzi Omar Abu Maria (22 years old) from Beit Ummar in Hebron Governorate, who was arrested from his home during iftar and transferred to Assioun Prison. In the process, an occupation soldier sat on him during the entire trip from his home to the prison such that he almost died from asphyxiation. Also, prisoner Hassan Mohamed Abu Kabiir (33 years old) from Dora, whose home was raided with sound bombs and police dogs, was savagely assaulted.

Qaraqe' was accompanied on his tour by the Director of the Freed Prisoners Association, Mohamed Hamideh; the Director of the Prisoner Club, Abdel Fattah Khalil; the Director General of Public Relations in the Ministry of Prisoners Affairs, Hassan Abed Rabbo; and a number of freed prisoners. Qaraqe' presented the prisoners' families with symbolic gifts as a symbolic expression of loyalty to their just cause and the devotion to the freeing of the prisoners without conditions and distinction.

Gaza: Storyteller's Return to Ramadan Evenings with Stories Touching on Siege and Division

Mohamed al-Baba wrote:

The storyteller returned this year with a distinctive costume and another language to appear at the Ramadan evenings, using the living conditions, the siege, and the division as a starting point for his stories that do not lack sarcasm between one story and the other.

At the restaurant and hotel al-Mathaf [the Museum] in Gaza, Ramadan evenings succeed one another every day, and the audience of children and women respond to them.

Citizen Samah Ahmad expressed her satisfaction with the storyteller's return to the Ramadan gatherings in Gaza, noting that the sarcasm that punctuates the stories of old about electricity interruptions, the Gaza darkness, and the state of dispersal and division, lightens the stress felt by citizens and makes them listen more carefully to the details.

She remarked that she listens to the storyteller with all her senses, even though it is the children who interact more with him, emphasizing that in his stories he does not deal with children's tales or the stories of their age, but in fact transcends that by addressing himself to all age groups.

Samah demanded that the storyteller's phenomenon be expanded through the year and not just limit it to the Ramadan evenings, praising the value of the desirable benefit from the storyteller, especially to children, if it is geared in a pedagogical manner to specific issues.

At the restaurants Roots and Crazy Water, and several major restaurants in Gaza, the storyteller donned a special costume that attracts children, and wandered among the audience as he told his stories, stirring up an atmosphere of fun and joy by blending in with them.

The child Enas Mohamed (12 years old) said that she understands the storyteller's stories, and she pays attention to him and works to implement many of his recommendations. She noted that his parody of Palestinian reality attracts her, such as his allusions to the interruptions of electricity and the darkness when he says, "The ogress will come to snatch away Hassan the Good Boy after the electricity is cut off from Gaza."

She demanded that the storyteller be made into a specific persona and be preserved throughout the year for the children to gain their trust, and consequently to learn from him and benefit from his stories.

Enas added, "She asks about the storyteller before choosing any place to spend the evening with her family or her friends during the month of Ramadan," commending the patriotic songs and the historic stories in their fashioning of a child's personality.

At the al-Mathaf restaurant, the storyteller refused to speak directly to the media in his name, preferring to remain disguised in a red costume, wearing a cap that covers some of his wild hair. Still, he mentioned that he works daily to preserve the stories that he mixes with the present situation, trying to exploit appropriate moments during the narration to expose the siege and the division, and the situation that has come to be in Gaza.

Between the storyteller and reality lie sarcasm, entertainment, and knowledge, in light of the need by the Gaza citizen, child or youngster, for new old means to alleviate his worries and the stress of the siege on him.

Jerusalem: Fayyad Partakes in Iftar at Mar Youssef Hospital, Visits Patients

Jerusalem – AL-AYYAM: The evening before last, Prime Minister Dr. Salam Fayyad took part in a group iftar organized by the Friends of the Hospital Association in Sheikh Jarrah in Jerusalem, which was attended by Bishop William Shomali, Abdel Qader al-Husseini, engineer Hisham al-Omari, attorney Mazen Qobti, engineer Hisham al-Bakri, Dr. Raed al-'Ilmi, the French Consul, the Cooperation and Cultural Affairs attaché at the Consulate General of France, and a number of hospital officials and association members.

The President of the Friends of the Hospital Association, Sameh al-Masri, expressed his deep gratitude to the Prime Minister for accepting the invitation to the iftar, and for what this gesture means to Jerusalem and the hospital which is considered a grand institution offering its services to all citizens of Jerusalem, the West Bank and the Gaza Strip.

He praised the hospital administrators and all its employees, specifically mentioning engineer Hani Abu Diyab for his great efforts to obtain a permit for erecting a new building for the hospital. He said that over the past few years the Association was able to accomplish a lot for the hospital, including securing modern and advanced equipment, and he pointed out the obstacles placed before him by the occupation authorities.

Fayyad visited some of the hospital wings and the work process in them, in particular the Internal Medicine Department which has been the object of a comprehensive rehabilitation in recent times, and which is slated to be officially inaugurated soon. He visited with the patients and wished them speedy recovery, and presented them with his congratulations for the happy feast of al-Fitr. The patients were surprised to see their Prime Minister visiting with them, and they appeared to be touched deeply by this noble humanitarian gesture.

North Gaza: Distribution of Flour and Oil to Needy

Gaza – MA'AN: The Peasant Charitable Association in Palestine said that yesterday it distributed 2,000 bags of flour and quantities of oil to the needy families of North Gaza Governorate, with backing from philanthropists in the Arabian Gulf countries. It said that this comes in an effort by the Association to alleviate the economic burden on those families who experience difficult circumstances and conditions, and that these food packages are part of the Ramadan relief campaign that the Association holds each year for poor families.

The Association President, Dr. Ramadan Tanbourah, said: "This distribution aims at bringing joy to the poor families, particularly under the siege imposed on the Gaza Strip," noting that the unemployment rate in Gaza has reached 80% which has led to a noticeable rise in poverty rates.

He said that the distribution included various areas of the northern Strip, and that the food packages were handed out in Jabaliya al-Nazleh, Jabaliya Camp, the city of Beit Lahya, and the city of Beit Hanoun which is constantly subjected to infiltrations and invasions.

Tanbourah also said that the Peasant Association will continue to work on providing what it can to help the needy, and it will carry on the charity mission it has adopted to bring a smile to the faces of the disadvantaged and to assist the widows and orphans.

He called upon the local and international associations to provide more aid and relief so that the citizen can overcome the difficult circumstances he is experiencing, and he stressed that the Association works independently of any partisanship and its activities target all citizens regardless of their political affiliations.

Hebron: Price Increase Deprives Poor of Holiday Cheer

Hebron – WAFA: The joyful holiday of al-Fitr is upon us in a few days, and obviously every father and mother try to bring joy to their home, their children's hearts, and those around them, despite the occupation and the dire conditions. We are a people, said poet Mahmoud Darwish, "who love life if we can find a way to it."

It is sad to go to the market to buy some gifts and toys for your children, and return empty-handed for reasons beyond your control, namely the tough economy, the lack of money, and prices beyond imagination.

When you enter the markets of Hebron these days, your feet force you to walk slowly, in short halting steps because of the crowdedness, but this crowdedness remains only in the streets while the stores seem empty except for their owners.

Citizen Imad Abu Zaynah, of modest income, says, "I have children and I work in construction. The occupation is one of the reasons for the bad economic situation and the meager financial capabilities in people's hands, but the merchants' exploitation of citizens and the monopoly of the markets by certain capitalists in Hebron in particular, will have the huge effect of limiting the holiday cheer to the rich only."

Abu Zaynah adds: "Ramadan has arrived, and since its beginning the prices of food have become unbelievable. Vegetables and meats have gone up to multiples of what they were before Ramadan, and now the prices of clothes, especially children's clothes, have risen as if they were painted with gold; unreal prices that are not within everyone's reach."

Ammar al-Nadher, the employee in Hebron Municipality, hopes that the National Authority will monitor prices and markets and protect the consumer against the exploitation of some merchants who monopolize the markets and do not care for the financial condition of the citizens.

Al-Nadher adds: "I went today to buy some clothes and food for my children, but the prices astonished me. Clothes have doubled, also chicken, beans, parsley, cauliflower and other vegetables have multiplied beyond imagination. As for meats, it's even worse with 75 shekels for a kilo of goat and mutton, which are now for the rich only, and chicken is almost there if it continues to go up."

Merchant Ibrahim al-Hammouri says that the markets are not getting better. The holiday which falls in back-to-school season and the deteriorating conditions for the citizen will make shopping for the holiday limited to only certain classes of society, the rich really. As for the middle class, which mostly consists of employees and workers, their main concern will be to ensure the basic necessities for their children and clothing them appropriately for the holiday and for going back to school.

The Hebron Governorate Police Chief, Colonel Ramadan Awad, said that the police are working round the clock to provide protection for the citizens, and in agreement with the National Economy Ministry, it will not allow merchants to monopolize the markets, and he also called on citizens not to rush into buying clothes and food supplies.

Awad disclosed that a security plan was put in place that is commensurate with the congestion of the city during the holiday, explaining that some streets leading into downtown will be diverted or closed in order to ease the flow of traffic and prevent traffic jams. Police directorates will open their doors round the clock to preserve public safety, and they will not allow anyone to exploit the holiday to raise prices.

Mustafa al-Barghouti: Going to Negotiations without Freezing Settlement Activity an Unwise Decision

Ramallah – Al-AYYAM: The Secretary General of the Palestinian National Initiative Movement, Dr. Mustafa al-Barghouti, said yesterday that settlement activities are ongoing during negotiations, and that going to the negotiations is an unwise decision.

He added that Israel has definitely not frozen settlement activity in Jerusalem, and the decision to freeze did not include Jerusalem and its suburbs, and that construction operations are also continuing in the West Bank.

He asserted that settlers in several settlements in the West Bank have begun to bring equipment and cement mixers since last Wednesday, in anticipation of building houses and community centers.

He disclosed an Israeli plan to build 3,000 new houses in settlements over West Bank lands.

He said that some days ago the settlers began construction of a new settlement spot on lands of the farming village of al-Buqaa, east of Hebron Governorate.

He said: Israel's talk about freezing settlement activity is only a deception, and reminded that the Israeli government approved last month the building of 23 classrooms in 8 settlements in the West Bank.

Sofia: Forum Commemorating International Jerusalem Day ... and Israeli Objection

Ramallah – WAFA: The Middle East Studies Center held a forum the evening before last at the Hilton Hotel in the Bulgarian capital, on the occasion of "International Jerusalem Day."

Attending the forum was Bishop Atallah Hanna, the archbishop of Sebastia for the Greek Orthodox, a crowd from the Arab expatriate communities, and a group of Bulgarian supporters and friends of Palestine, in addition to a number of ambassadors and representatives of Bulgarian official and religious bodies.

The Israeli ambassador to Bulgaria, Noah Gal Gendler, sought to outdo the forum with a statement he issued regarding Bishop Atallah Hanna's visit to Bulgaria, in which he included an objection to the visit on the pretext that the Bishop "supports suicide operations against Israeli citizens."

The Palestinian ambassador, Dr. Ahmad al-Madhbouh, expressed his gratitude to the Bulgarian friends for sharing with the Palestinians the commemoration of International Jerusalem Day, stressing the Palestinian people's desire for peace.

The head of the Middle East Studies Center, Dr. Mohamed Abu Assi, condemned the statement issued by the Israeli ambassador and the Israeli Embassy's seeking to undermine the Orthodox Church of Jerusalem with attempts to distort the image of the Archbishop of Sebastia.

The Palestinian Bulgarian Friendship Association President, Dr. Kiryak Tsonev, emphasized the depth of the relation between the Palestinian and Bulgarian peoples, and condemned the Israeli ambassador's interference in Bulgarian affairs, describing his statement on Bishop Hanna's visit as a transgression of diplomatic norms and traditions.

In his address, Bishop Hanna exposed the Israeli practices aiming to Judaize the city of Jerusalem by demolishing the citizens' houses and evicting national personalities from the city and places of worship, and he stressed the Palestinian Islamic-Christian brotherhood that prevails in Jerusalem and the other cities.
